How to Become a Binary Options Super Strategy Trader. Discover the Performance Realm of the Super Strategy Trader. Find Out How to Elevate Your Trading Game and Meet the Markets with a Plan at Opportunity after Opportunity.

I witnessed it myself. These Traders have become the new "Market Wizards" and have blown away most Market Wizards (with the exception of Richard Dennis) – and we're talking 9 and 10 figure individual retail traders that started with a grub steak.

How did they do it? Well they took the concept of applying a literal, ancient Ninja style of mastery concept to trading in a very serious way.

As you know the word ninja is terribly hackneyed. It's been watered down. It's been turned into a joke. But at the time back when ninjas were very real, they certainly were no joke. And you wouldn't one assigned to come after you!

Ninja's training were extremely intense. They pushed mastery to new levels. I want you to do the same yourself in your trading.

Stop looking for an easy way. Easy way = loser in life. If you keep chasing the easy day, one day you're going to wake up and realized you've wasted a lot of time, if not your entire life. So it's time to take charge, take on the challenge and go for mastery.

And what I have observed in these Super Strategy Traders is that they were not really systems traders.

They were not like Richard Dennis. What they did was that they learned a number of powerful strategies and they mastered them all.

So when they battled with the market they always had a proper reaction to particular price action setups that allowed them to win most every time.

And as with a ninja you always had a counter-offensive move in offensive move to every scenario in addition to the use of extreme stealth.

If you think about it, if you have taken martial arts, as I have, you'll know that teachers will train you to master move by move until it becomes a natural extension of what you do. You would be able to fight even 1/2 asleep.

You have repeat the move over and over and over and over in practice. Then you must train, spar extensively. You cannot think cerebrally in a fight you must only react. You can not guess and strategize in real time, you must only do the right thing at the right moment.

And when you treat the markets similarly the same applies particularly if you are day trading.

You need to get this way, obtain this ninja like mastery in your own trading. You need to have your own strategies mastered to a point so you do not think at all. You simply react and react correctly.

When you have Mastery you will simply react correctly every time. You will correctly enter. You will we get out when a stop loss point is hit. You will take profits correctly.

As most of you know, although that sounds simple and easy, you will not be able to react correctly in real time until you have achieved Mastery.

Why is that? Emotions! Most of your battle will be in the emotional realm when you are trading in addition to wigs and jigs of price action that try to throw you off.

In this course we are going to explore this concept. I take you through each stage of the way required to become a super strategy trader yourself.
