FAQ

1. Can I trade this system all day long? Yes this system will allow that possibility
2. Can I trade this on other indexes? The system was developed to take advantage of a certain type of price action that a index usually has. You should tested on other indices first before trading though, although the system should be able to do similarly on other similarly priced flowing indices.
3. Am I guaranteed to make money with this binary system? You're not supposed to ask that in trading. I hate to say it but if you have to ask that you will probably find some way to mess this system up as well. I say that because trading doesn't work like that. If you're looking for the sure thing in trading you're not the proper mindset and you will likely fall prey to the marketplace. All I can tell you that this binary options system is a very, very good system. And it gives you a great chance for success. The question is will you learn the system? Will you practice trading the system so you can trade the system well? And will you show up!
