Learning Binary Options Is Not Just About Expirations, Mechanics and Strategies it's About Learning to Day Trade

“Day trading? What are you talking about? I thought this was about binary options trading...”

Binary options trading as known around the planet as I helped explode around the planet with my first ever commercial (and very powerful) binary options systems back in 2009-2010. IS DAY TRADING.

And yes it's true, you have the “Grandfather of Modern Day Binary Options Trading” to teach you in this Binary Starter Kit training course. More on that later... The story is in the course. It's been a very valuable journey ever since that binary broker owner challenged me to create a system back in 2009 for binary options...

And the greatest value has been in the explosion of systems development for all realms of systems I deal in due to the insight I gained from binary options. Binary options can help you become a much better trader folks!

You're getting in on a good thing with layers of value that run deep. I know it may be hard to see that compared to green and red up and down buttons. But you'll see over time, if you apply your self and learn binary options as I will teach you in this Binary Starter Kit Course.

Back to a little history...

At that time, back in 2008-2009, the binary options industry was going more towards the 'casino' direction in terms of how it was being promoted and I yanked it back by it's hair and said no! The opportunity for trading this way is too great; it's so nice trading without an exit! (you should have heard me scolding several broker owners on the phone... It was pretty funny now I look back at the conversations but great for their industry).

“We are going to bring binary options trading over into the realms of professional trading, systems trading,” so I exclaimed as my new mantra.

So I launched the first known binary options systems to market, ever and the rest is now history. (And now my systems development has gotten to insane levels of performance and profitability in binary options which I’m able to cross apply to systems in Forex, Stocks, Vanilla options and Futures).

Day trading is awesome. You can learn trading in general SO MUCH MORE QUICKLY.

I try and encourage all of my students to learn to day trade well since it helps dramatically in becoming a better trader. I mean think about it, you get a little over a year’s worth of bars in one day on a 1 min bar chart! Of course you’re going to get better at reading charts if you’re day trading. And you do need to get better at recognizing your entry patterns and reacting without hesitation. Once you build up your belief levels in your trading system or trading strategy, THEN, you can “go to town” and really start trading like a top pro trader.

On top of that, by learning binary options day trading, you can learn to become a better trader in another way: binary options day trading gets you to focus on getting better at ENTERING. As you get better at entering a trade you learn to avoid more mediocre trades and you learn to get into better trades on average. That is extremely valuable.

But anyways there is SO Much awesome and valuable stuff I’ll be teaching you in the Binary Starter Kit. I know several more of you are going to take this information on to your new 6 or 7 fig binary trading businesses. And oh yes, we are going to turn your binary trading into an actual business. More on THAT later.
