So we wanted to make a new type of precision-based trading strategy binary options on the NADEX 20 min. expiration.

We want something that's going to give clarity on a way to play over dramatize events.

Now when we speak of over dramatize events were not talking about a once a day or once a week that the thing were talking about every so many minutes.

We are trading the 1 min. bars for targeting the NADEX 20 min. expiration. This is a good binary options to trade because there is indeed a 20 min. cycle price action in the markets. That may sound strange but there is actually a 20 min. cycle of price behavior in the marketplace that we can exploit. Now the 30 min. price cycle is a little stronger which is probably why NADEX went with a 20 min. cycle by the 20 min. cycles pretty good and we can still have great chance to make a lot of money on a consistent basis.

Why would you get this NXSAP20 NADEX 20 Minute Expiration Strategy?

- Precision
- To have another strategy to add to your arsenal in order to compound strategies and dominated NADEX 20 min. binary options expiration.
- if you can have dependable precision than that allows you to take a little bit bigger position size and then compound that position size a little faster.
- How long will it take you to learn new strategy? I don't think very long at all. It doesn't take long to get the course. And then to study the markets well that's interdependent on how aggressive your this at historically studying and practicing. If you have a lot of price action chart reading skills then you can probably pick this up really fast and start putting to work with one contract and then go from there.

- we trade at the money binary options as at the money as we can get at NADEX so therefore you can use the demo account just fine and also practice there.
